Hardware store hammered in wreck

GRANITE CITY — A two-car accident claimed several plateglass windows at Granite Hardware, 1900 Benton St., Thursday afternoon.

A 1974 Oldsmobile driven east on 19th Street by Sandy Vanhauss, 24, 2434 Ohio Ave., collided with an Illinois Power Co. utility truck in the intersection of 19th and Benton streets, then jumped the sidewalk, ran over a "no parking" sign and rolled through the display windows.

"He just ran right into the side of me," Vanhauss alleged, "and I just totally lost control. I was laying down on the seat when it (the car) went through the window. I had to crawl out (the car) window — I was so nervous."

The car came to rest to the right of the front door near a sign that advised "Parking In Back."

The store's manager, Ron Edwards, was on the phone when the accident occurred.

"I heard the smack outside," he said. "Then I heard the rest of it; then I heard the glass."

Edwards estimated structural damage and the cost to replace the broken windows at from $8,000 to $10,000.

The driver of the truck, Don Bellman, 39, 3238 Wilshire Drive, said he was in the intersection of 19th and Benton streets when the accident occurred. The truck's right front bumper was damaged.

Vanhauss was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

No charges were filed.

Stuart blamed for homicides

MADISON — Hugh C. Stuart shot and killed his wife and daughter, then turned the gun on himself, a six-member jury decided at an inquest Thursday.

After two hours of testimony and 15 minutes of deliberation, the verdict was returned by a jury of four men and two women at an inquest into the Nov. 17 deaths of Bertie M. Stuart, 80, Ruth Ann Rapoff, 49, and Hugh C. Stuart, 84.

The three suffered fatal gunshot wounds at the Stuarts' home at 1023 Third St., Madison. Mrs. Rapoff resided in Granite City and was visiting her parents. The gun was found near Mr. Stuart's hand.

RALPH BAAHLMANN, chief deputy coroner, conducted the inquest. Photographs were shown and police officials testified on reports from crime laboratories.

The inquest was held in the council room at Madison City Hall.

The St. Louis Area Major Case Squad handled the five-day investigation along with Madison police and the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation.

The women were found on the kit-

MADISON — A long-awaited water line extension to the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza area may begin soon.

The city has been approved for a $265,500 loan from the Build Illinois Public Infrastructure Loan and Grant Program. Mayor John Bellicoff noted at a City Council meeting Dec. 16.

THE APPLICATION was submitted to the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

The city plans to have 7,500 lineal feet of water pipe installed to a point near the truck plaza.

The loan is to be paid back to the state by the city over a seven-year period at three percent interest, the mayor said.

Repayment of the loan will be made possible by revenue the city will receive from tap-on fees and from a percentage of the receipts for the water that is used.

BOTH SOURCES of income, tap-ons and water use, will be derived by the city from Illinois-American Water Co. for a 1½-year span.

Illinois-American will install the water line and own it, but the city will have an option to buy it in the future.

The truck plaza area is located along Illinois 203 and is in St. Clair County, although the bulk of Madison is in Madison County.

PLANS FOR the annexed highway area south of the main part of Madison include private construction of a motel and other business places near the truck plaza.

Lonely people welcome at Christmas Eve dinner

By Valerie Evenden

Staff writer

There is no need to be lonely on Christmas Eve.

Any area resident expecting to be alone at Christmas is invited to share in a free Christmas Eve dinner at the Venice Senior Community Center, Klein and Brown streets, Venice.

THE 35-MEMBER congregation of Logan Street Church of Christ in Venice is hosting the smorgasbord-style dinner, which will take place from 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 24.

Last year, members of the same church sponsored a Christmas Day dinner for anyone in the community who needed a meal.

Needy persons or those living alone who do not ordinarily have a Christmas meal with relatives or friends are invited, Nathaniel Cobb, pastor, said Tuesday.

THE INVITATION is extended to residents of Madison and Granite City as well as citizens of Venice, the minister said.

"We put no restriction on who can come to the dinner," he said.

No cost will be involved, but those wishing to eat dinner are asked to call and register their names so sufficient food may be prepared, Rev. Cobb said.

CALLS SHOULD be made to the church, at 876-3362, between 9 a.m. and noon prior to Dec. 24.

Volunteers also will deliver meals to area residents who are homebound or otherwise unable to make the trip to the senior community center.

Church members will prepare and serve turkey and dressing, ham, vegetables and "all the trimmings," including homemade pie.

"WE HAD THE MOST delicious homemade sweet potato pie last Christmas," the pastor recalled.

"We cook the food ourselves and then bring it to the center, where there are facilities to keep it hot," he added.

"We did receive help from the community last year and through different organizations which volunteered to help.

"Some of our (church) members make sacrifices to buy extra groceries for the dinner," Rev. Cobb said.

"IT WAS VERY, very cold last Christmas Day and many people wanting to come could not get out, so we delivered the food to shut-in people."

"We have the means of getting the food to them (shut-ins) this year, if necessary," he said. "We'll probably have some extra bags to take home," he added.

Vanetta Adams, secretary of Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols, is contacting prospective guests and helping to compile the registration list.

Milton Jones, a Church of Christ volunteer, is also involved in planning the dinner, Rev. Cobb said.

The church is located at 1107 Logan St., Venice.

Holiday traditions have interesting origins

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — The Christmas season brings with it many traditions like putting up a tree, hanging wreaths, and kissing under the mistletoe.

THE REV. Ronald Petersen, Sunday focus pastor of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ in Granite City, and the Rev. Robert Bohdan S. Piorkowski, pastor of St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church in Madison, discussed the origin and meanings of many Christmas traditions and customs Dec. 11 at a meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club.

"Much of what we do for Christmas is not part of scripture," Petersen said.

For example, Christmas nativity scenes and plays show three wise men in the manger with the traditional Biblical characters.

HOWEVER, Petersen said it is not certain as to how many wise men there were or when they arrived.

He said the idea of the three wise men, Melchior, Gaspar, and Balthasar, came from the three gifts mentioned in the Bible — gold, frankincense and myrrh.

"These traditions have built up," he said.

CONCERNING THE Christmas tree, Petersen said the German custom is to put it up Christmas Eve morning. The English custom is to put the tree up the first Sunday in Advent, he said.

Hanging wreaths on doors, he said, was a custom which was supposed to improve fertility in England.

Though he didn't have a white beard and a red suit, Petersen said, there was a real St. Nicholas in third-century Greece. However, he did nothing for children, Petersen said. Instead, St. Nicholas helped to raise marriage dowries for unwed girls, he said.

AT THEIR Christmas meal, eaten by candlelight, Piorkowski said, Ukrainians set places for family members who died during the year.

If no one has died during the year, plates are set in the window to bring back the dead. The food not eaten in those plates is fed to animals, he said.

A sheaf of wheat is placed in the western part of the home, he said.

Farm implements are put under the table, straw is placed on the table and hay is put on the floor.

THE MAN of the house leads prayers for a good harvest in the coming year while his wife prays for good health, Piorkowski said.

Another tradition, he said, is the blessing of the water on Jan. 5, a tradition that is still practiced today.

Piorkowski said a hole is cut in the ice of a lake and parishioners are dunked into the water. This symbolizes good health for the coming year, he said.

Jan. 5 is also known as "Christmas of the animals," he said. Animals are allowed to roam freely inside their owners' homes, eat of the same food, and drink of the blessed water, he said.

Hanke seeks city job

GRANITE CITY — The newly created public works director position could go to 3rd Ward Alderman Brett Hanke, 36, but Mayor Von Dee Cruse said Hanke isn't sure the $55,000 salary is enough.

The alderman applied for the job Thursday after being requested to do so by city officials and private individuals, he said. He announced at Tuesday's City Council meeting that he would make the application.

HANKE is concerned about the pay and would like to equal what he makes as an alderman, as a civil engineer for the Saugee Treatment Plant, with raises expected; and he anticipates working long hours as public works director.

Holiday deadlines announced

For the Christmas and New Year's Day holidays, deadlines will change for the Dec. 28 and Jan. 4 issues of the Sunday Press-Record/Journal. Deadlines for classified display and R.O.P. ads will be noon on the preceding Wednesdays, with no deadline change for classified liners. During the period, the Sunday paper will be delivered as normal, the Wednesday paper on Wednesday evening and the Thursday paper on Friday at the regular time of day. The newspaper office will close at noon on Christmas eve.

A green light was received yesterday from the Public Housing Authority's regional office in Chicago to build 100 low-rent apartments for the elderly in Granite City. The units will be located on land one block east of Kirkpatrick Homes. The U.S. Congress has already approved funding for the housing.

Holiday drive is at crucial point

In the annual Tree of Lights campaign of the Salvation Army, the last four days are critical.

This is the final push. Historically, many supporters suddenly realize that they have been putting it off and now it must be done.

There are no unimportant gifts. Everything counts. Don't think you can't help just because you can't give $50 or $100. The $25's, $10's and $5's all count.

A total of 1,150 families is to be served this year. Multiply that by four and you can easily figure out that one out of every 10 people in our area will be served this year.

Those of us who are the more fortunate ones need to search our souls and, first, see if we gave and, second, if we gave enough. Only you can answer the question, "What's enough?"

There are some people who don't believe in giving. They have a problem.

There are some people who don't know how much to give. This is a matter of education. Obviously, if you have been giving the same amount for 20 years, it is not enough. If we see people of the most modest means dropping ones and fives into our tethers, then you have some idea of where to rate your giving.

Even a small gift is much better than no gift at all.

We request your help in encouraging your readers to wear their safety belts. We ask that you use the buckle-up message for the holiday season and we urge all to help reduce the odds of death and injury that can occur in traffic accidents.

Half of head injuries due to traffic

To the editor:

The holiday season is an exciting time of year. But along with the bustle and excitement are congested roadways — and an increase in traffic accidents.

Unfortunately, driving conditions frequently are worsened by inclement weather — at a time of the year when most of us are preoccupied with thoughts of the season's activities.

This is why it is so important, especially during the holidays to stress the importance of safe driving. One of the primary concerns of the National Head Injury Foundation (NHIF) is the prevention of auto accident-related head injury.

Approximately half of the 700,000 head injuries annually occur in automobile crashes. Many of those occur less than 25 miles from home.

Pastors cite a Christmas gift for all

Christmas Week column ought to be uplifting, and that's the way I felt — uplifted — after eating sausages and scrambled eggs four days ago at Charlie's Restaurant.

Charlie's usually doesn't serve a weekday meal at that hour, but the occasion was this community's December prayer breakfast. Local ministers "told it like it is," and their message was encouraging.

Two extremes need to be avoided in that kind of meeting and in this kind of commentary:

• A longtime journalist like me should not become cynical, "contemptuously distrustful of human nature and motives."

• And a former Chamber of Commerce president like me ought not to be Pollyanna, which my dictionary defines as "one characterized by irrefragable optimism and a tendency to find good in everything."

We'll try to steer clear of either of those attitudes.

There seemed no doubt in the prayer breakfast audience that pastors are an important segment of this well-churching area, and not just on Sundays.

There were well over 100 churches in the vicinity of Venice, Madison, Granite City, Pontoon Beach and Mitchell, it was brought out. The collective efforts of that many congregations can do a lot to have a profound effect on the outcome of local issues and endeavors.

Convinced of pastors' impact here, the sponsors of the prayer breakfast series want to attract more of the priests and ministers to the monthly, action-oriented gatherings. They won't always be a program, but they can be heavily involved participants in the group.

Moderator of the pre-Christmas discussion was the Rev. Jim Donahue, pastor of Third Baptist Church.

Panelists were the Rev. Manuel Munayo, pastor of Central Christian Church, the Rev. Linda Shugart, pastor of Mitchell United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Jim Wessner, director of pastors at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, the

Columnists' Club

By Bill Winter

Rev. Ronald Petersen, pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ, and the Rev. Jerry Reed, pastor of Nameoki United Methodist Church.

A prayer breakfast must have prayers, and there were two — by the Rev. James Benzing, associate pastor of St. John United Church of Christ, and the Rev. Preston Shealy, associate pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Granite City.

One thing the preachers said they would like is for our newspaper to publish on a daily basis, in conjunction with the Cahokia-Dupo and East St. Louis weeklies, we do prepare and print five issues a week in Granite City.

With a daily, it would be easier for the pastors to alert their parishioners and the general public about upcoming church activities, several of them said Wednesday.

The main point the panelists emphasized was not that they see good in everything, but that they do see it. And now that they have seen both the good and the bad neighborhoods, and have lived and worked here for months or years, they all feel it's a wonderful place to be. And they want to stay as long as they can. They are all here by choice, and in some cases for a second time.

The pastors said they know other towns and states just as intimately, and can see the various local positives and negatives with clarity and perspective.

They conceded that part of anyone's outlook depends on whether a person wishes to call a water glass "half empty" or "half full."

But it is a mighty full glass when taking into account the many assets, the generosity, the friendliness, the countless formal and informal help organizations and most of all, the fine, concerned, caring people of this community. I wouldn't trade them for any other group anywhere, at Christmas or any other time of the year.

The pastors agree. They said their "cup runneth over" because they are reaching primarily to what they find today, and judge it on its own merits, which they say are substantial.

In contrast, too many non-transient residents focus on what the Quad-Cities used to be, when jobs abandoned, schools were crowded, downtown was busy and a seemingly endless array of industries thrived. The smoke blew, and Granite City grew.

At least, a pattern of too much dwelling on the past is regarded as a key problem, when seen through the eyes of those who counsel and lead our churches.

Of course, you and I know this community has seen better days, in some respects.

The pastors are not Pollyannas. Many of them were at first reluctant to consider an assignment here.

This hesitancy stemmed from their conversations with Quad-Citians. Many of the local people they talked to found fault with their home town and said so.

Now that the pastors have become acquainted with our actual short-

Front-, rear-wheel-drive skids differ

To the editor:

Skidding is one of the primary causes of winter driving. To maintain control of a vehicle on snow-covered streets, you need to know what causes a skid and how to steer your vehicle out of one.

Accelerating too fast on ice or snow, driving at excessive speeds, and sudden turns and braking can cause tires to lose traction and throw a vehicle into a skid.

Rear-wheel-drive vehicles tend to swing, or "fishtail," when motorists accelerate quickly or go into a turn too fast.

On the other hand, front-wheel-drive vehicles rarely fishtail. Instead, rapid acceleration causes the wheels to spin and the front of the car to steer off course. Attempting to make a turn at a high speed may cause the car to go straight ahead.

Getting out of a skid is basically the same for both types of vehicles. When a car or truck starts to skid, do not panic and do not hit the brakes. Take your foot off the accelerator until the tires regain traction and you are able to steer the vehicle again.

Hold the steering wheel firmly and do not make any quick turns. Steer gently in the direction you want the front of the vehicle to go. Unless the skid is too severe, these procedures should get you back on course.

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon is revising many of the exhaustively detailed "specifications" for items it buys, and that's good news for fruitcake makers.

The written specifications for the traditional holiday snack have been cut from 16 pages to four. The new, streamlined "commercial item description" lists the essential ingredients and leaves it up to the commercial bakers to work it out from there.

It is hoped the new specs will attract bids from professional bakers who balked at shelving their own successful formulas. And they don't run in the batter, or that the orange peels and pineapple bits have a "76 percent soluble solids content."

No one has predicted how much money will be saved as a result of the new system — though the wear and tear on military procurement officers and potential contractors should be considerable.

The big improvement may well be in the fruitcakes themselves, as commercially successful bakers are induced to compete for business. The Pentagon has learned from bitter experience that the overly detailed, by-the-numbers approach sometimes tends to encourage incompetent suppliers, who used the old specs like recipes.

As any viewer of Julia Child can attest, literal devotion to measurements is no substitute for experience in the kitchen.

The new procurement policy — which also applies to such mysterious concoctions as Worcestershire sauce and thousands of other military supply items — was made possible by an amendment to the Pentagon Budget. The task of revising the specs to take commercial expertise into consideration is being supervised by Peter Yurcin, head of the Office of Standardization and Data Management.

It won't be easy. There are military specifications for 25,000 different items the Pentagon buys. But 4,000 have already been replaced by industry standards, and Yurcin predicts that about 2,000 additional commercial item descriptions will be adopted in 1987.

That does not mean we are adopting every one (that industry) makes. Yurcin told our associate Stewart Harris. But it does mean, he said, that if the Society of Automotive Engineers, for example, has already done the detail work and come up with an acceptable standard, there's often no need for the Pentagon to re-invent the wheel just so it can have its own, exclusive military standard.

There are, of course, many items that have a uniquely military application, or for which the industry standards might not be rigorous enough for combat conditions. But Yurcin figures that there are thousands of goods — like fruitcake — where the Pentagon and its civilian contractors should be able to collaborate and draft specifications that will be useful to all concerned.

Hello, Santa?

Dream Factory plays Santa to 3 children

The St. Louis Dream Factory is playing Santa by granting dreams to three seriously ill children during the Christmas holidays. Two of the three dreams will have something special added.

Jack P. Solberger of Granite City, Dream Factory president, made the announcement.

Joshua Miller, seven, was met at the west long-term parking lot at Lambert Airport on Dec. 19 by John Weiser, who escorted Joshua, his parents, and brothers and sisters to the terminal in his Batmobile. Joshua, who is suffering from a serious illness, and his family then departed St. Louis for Disney World. They reside in Wilsonville, Ill.

Shanita Clark, 13, East St. Louis, and her family will depart for Disney World on Christmas Eve. Santa Claus and Dream Factory members will be present to wish Shanita and her family a merry Christmas and good luck on their stay at Disney World.

Ronald Higgins, 12, St. Louis, and his parents will depart St. Louis for Disney Land on Dec. 26.

Joshua and Shanita and their families will spend two of their days in Florida at Disney World's Magic Kingdom and Epcot Center and one day at Sea World. Ronald and his parents will spend two days at Disney Land in Anaheim, Calif., and one day at Universal Studios.

The St. Louis Dream Factory is a non-profit organization that fulfills dreams of seriously ill children.

It raises its money for the dreams by fund-raisers and by contributions from private persons, civic groups and corporations. Information about the Dream Factory can be obtained by calling 848-1582 in Missouri and 737-0166 in Illinois.

NAACP election Jan. 8

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

The Madison-Venice NAACP Chapter will hold its biennial election meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 8, at Friendship Baptist Church, 301 Mercedia Ave., Venice. The Rev. Harold Wilson Sr., who has served as president for the past four years, announced plans this week for the election.

The Madison-Venice chapter has between 150 and 200 members. "We hope all our members will make plans to come out for this election meeting," the minister said.

Employed for several years as a Madison County sheriff's deputy, Rev. Wilson is completing his second two-year term as NAACP chapter president.

He also serves on the Venice Board of Park Commissioners and was appointed this year by Mayor Tyrone Echols to the Venice Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

Candidates selected will serve for two years in the offices of president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and chairman of membership, Rev. Wilson said.

Moad requests engineering study

GRANITE CITY — An engineering study to determine the feasibility of parking on Maryville Road has again been requested by 6th Ward Alderman Woody Moad.

However, when he asked Acting City Engineer Edward Schulze at Tuesday's City Council meeting if a study could be prepared, Schulze had left.

"I've missed him again," Moad said.

Moad said he has been asking for two years that a study be done. He said Maryville Road residents are in need of parking in front of their homes.

The council twice this year granted permission to allow limited on-street parking on Maryville Road. However, a city ordinance prohibits parking on both sides of the four-lane road from Illinois 162 to Pontoon Road.

The ordinance, passed July 5, 1978, is part of an agreement between the city and the county as to the construction of the road, to assure that it would be maintained as a four-lane roadway.

Demolition of GC home sought

GRANITE CITY — Demolition or repair of a home at 2162 State St. will be sought.

The Granite City Council unanimously adopted a resolution Tuesday night providing for demolition or repair of the house.

The home has been deemed dangerous and unsafe by city building inspector John Jakich.

A written notice will be sent to the owner and the city will apply for a court order to have the building demolished or repaired, unless demolition or repair is made within 15 days of receipt of the notice.

Quad-Citians to get statement of benefits

Every person who received or repaid any Social Security benefits during 1986 will receive a Social Security Benefit Statement, Form SSA-1099, during January 1987.

The form will show the amount of Social Security benefits the person received as well as the amount of benefits they repaid during 1986. The form should be used just as any other Form 1099 received from a financial institution is used when the person completes his or her federal income tax return for 1986.

People who have substantial other income may have to include up to half of their Social Security benefits in their taxable income.

Included with the benefit statement will be IRS Notice 703. This is a worksheet that people can fill out to see if any of their Social Security benefits may be subject to federal income tax.

A free publication — Publication 915 — contains a detailed explanation of the entries on the benefit statement and explains about taxability of benefits. A free copy is available at the East St. Louis Social Security office or Internal Revenue Service office.

The East St. Louis Social Security office is located at 650 Missouri Ave. and the telephone number is 463-4330; if this is a long-distance call, an individual may dial the Operator and ask for Enterprise 1-555.

D. I bought a new car earlier this year. In trying to decide whether I could afford the car, I took into consideration the deduction of the sales tax and the interest on the car loan. Considering the new tax law, am I way off in calculating the cost of the new car?

A. No. You are okay since you bought the car in 1986. Starting in 1987, sales tax will no longer be deductible. If you itemize on your 1986 tax return, you can deduct the sales tax. Consumer loan interest will be phased out over the next five years. All of your car loan interest paid in 1986 can be deducted on your 1986 tax return. On the 1987 tax return, you will be allowed a deduction of 65% of your car loan interest. In 1988, the deduction will be 40% of consumer loan interest paid, 20% in 1989, 10% in 1990 and none in 1991.

Priority mail offers fast, sure delivery

There is a fast way to mail Christmas packages that many last-minute shoppers may have overlooked, Granite City Postmaster Larry Wood said this week.

"Priority Mail affords First-Class handling for packages weighing over 12 ounces and up to 70 pounds. It's fast and consistent, offering next-day delivery up to 150 miles and delivery in three days anywhere in the U.S."

"It's the ideal service for people who want prompt package delivery and yet would like to avoid the cost of Express Mail Next Day Service," said Wood.

Priority Mail can be sent from any post office, station or branch or through rural carriers to any address in the U.S. and even to foreign countries. The service is available with insurance, return receipt, COD, Certificates of Mailing and Special Delivery.

Bubblemasters hold yule party

The Bubblemasters Dive Club of Granite City held its December meeting and Christmas party at the VFW Hall.

A gift exchange was held and a snack buffet was served. Money was collected to be used to aid a needy family.

Those in attendance were President Pete Fourcault and wife, Cathy; Vice President Barb Gates and husband, Glen, Secretary Rita Young and husband, Al, Treasurer Tom Mueller and wife, Connie, Barb and Ed Duffin, Helen and Ron Beard, Paula, Vance and Jonathan Weiss, Chris Fahning, Dee Adams, Julie, Ron and Brenda Yates, Tim Murphy, Cathy Matkakis, Suzie and Bill Schaefer and family, Mary Earls and Wilfred and Linda Roder. Special honors were extended to Ed Duffin on being selected Diver of the Year for the second consecutive year.

New officers for 1987 were announced and include Glen Gates, president, Tim Murphy, vice president, Rita Young, secretary, and Bill Schaefer, treasurer.

Bank staff is honored

Central Bank of Granite City held its 25th annual awards dinner on Dec. 4 at Sunset Hills Country Club. Bart J. Solon, president of the bank and toastmaster for the evening, greeted employees, retirees, members of the board of directors and guests.

"Teller of the year" awards were presented to Denise Jarvis from the 1909 Edison Ave. bank and Debbie Jones from the 2300 Madison Ave. bank.

Sue Barnett received a 20-year service award. Linda Gilliam, Carol Grobelnik, Barbara Jones and Carole Pickens received 10-year service awards. Debbie Duffin, Linda Finley, Larry Prater and Linda Smith received five-year service awards.

Betty Fricke, a 30-year bank employee, and Marianne Mims, a five-year bank employee, were unable to attend.

Music for the evening was provided by the John Fornasewski Band. The band is the former Granite City Trust and Savings Bank.

Six Flags to hire for 1987 season

Six Flags Over Mid-America is seeking 2,600 hosts and hostesses to operate the 260-acre theme park during the 1987 season. They are given the opportunity to gain work experience as they help operate the Six Flags facilities.

"A smile and a positive attitude could launch a summer season of fun and excitement. Hosts and hostesses are the sustenance of the park, and they learn and share responsibility and valuable communication skills," a spokesman said.

Six Flags offers full-time and flexible part-time hours to people of all ages from high school students to full-time mothers to senior citizens; applicants must be at least 16 years of age. They operate the rides, work in food and merchandise stands, assist visitors at Guest Relations, and staff the concessions. Ruben Mortyev, personnel manager, said, "It's work, but it's fun work."

In addition to the wages hosts and hostesses earn, Six Flags offers car pool information, softball tournaments, late department olympics, trips to other Six Flags parks, and dance. Interested applicants may submit an application and participate in an interview at the following locations and times:

Friday, Jan. 9, Eureka Ramada Inn, 1 to 3 p.m.
Saturday, Jan. 17, Crestwood Plaza, St. Louis, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Applications will be accepted every Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the personnel office at the theme park — and on Saturdays beginning in mid-January.

Woods emphasized in SIUE land use plan

Trustees of Southern Illinois University have approved a land use plan for the SIUE campus that includes more than 1,000 acres of woods and open space.

The plan was approved at a mid-December meeting on the Edwardsville campus. The last such plan, was adopted in 1972.

Earlier this year, a state audit report suggested SIUE sell 95 percent of its 2,640 acres. An audit manager said the university should try to make active use of all its land. But university officials disagreed, saying the land could be put to good use in the future if programs and facilities are expanded. Retaining the land also would ensure the campus is visually pleasing, they added.

The latest plan allows about 200 acres for academic areas and about 200 acres for housing. University Park, a proposed research and development area for businesses, is allotted 250 acres.

About 1,020 acres are designated as preservation and natural areas, including woods. Almost 300 acres are designated for the Tower Lake area.

Remaining acreage is designated for parking and supporting services.

The plan outlines two proposed preservation areas, a park in the west-central part of the campus and an arboretum near the intersection of North and East University drives.

"The park would be on bluffs overlooking bottomland, a wooded area, a prairie and an old cemetery. Wooded areas to be retained are scattered throughout the campus. It is important to reserve land for additional academic buildings and housing, the plan says.

The plan also proposes a new outdoor recreation area west of the campus core, within walking distance of the Vadalabene Center and Bubble Gym. It also proposes building more bikeways, and reserving space for more access drives and additional lanes on campus roads.

Pets available for adoption

Pets are available for adoption at the Animal Protection Shelter, 5000 Old Alton Road.

The pets would make good Christmas gifts for responsible persons, said Ann Tripp, a friend of the association.

"This request for homes for pets is addressed to those individuals who already know the personal satisfaction of having a special pet," Tripp said.

"They require care and responsibility," she said. "But to those of us who love our animals, the rewards seem to outweigh any disadvantages there may be in their care."

There is a concern, she said, for the many animals that do not enjoy the special relationship with an individual. Some animals, for various reasons, are either taken to the Humane Society or, if more fortunate, to the Animal Protection Association to wait for an interested party to make them a special pet, she said.

"If you are one of those interested individuals or you know a responsible person who could benefit greatly from the addition of an affectionate pet, please call the APA at 931-7030," she said.

Adoption hours for the shelter are Thursday and Friday, 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Mr., Mrs. Geisler announce 1st child

Mr. and Mrs. Dana (Paula) Geisler, 2816 Holcomb, Des Moines, Iowa, former local residents, are announcing the birth of their first child, a girl, on Dec. 16, 1986, at Mercy Hospital in Des Moines.

The new arrival has been named Rachel Marie and she weighed 6 pounds, 15 ounces.

Grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Myrna) Geisler of Granite City, Mrs. Gladys Porter of St. Louis County and the late Wendell Porter. A great-grandmother, Leila Johnson, resides in Missouri.

Dance scholarships awarded

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Eight young dancers from the Salem Dance Centre were presented awards from the Angela Briggs Scholarship Fund last week.

The fund was recently established by Ronald and Patricia Briggs of Granite City in memory of their daughter, Angela, 8, who was fatally injured in a boating accident July 4, 1985, on the Lake of the Ozarks near Laurie, Mo.

Angela studied dance for four years at Salem Dance Centre. The dance centre, located 1910 Delmar Ave., is co-sponsoring the continuing scholarship fund, which will provide awards to students for presentation each year at the centre's annual Christmas party, the sponsors explained.

To receive an award, a dancer must meet seven requirements based on the attributes Angela brought to her dancing while a student at the centre, Marge Salem, dance instructor, said.

The requirements are flexibility, timing, working hard in class, practicing, consistency in attending multiple classes, putting dance near the top of everyday priorities, and parental participation and encouragement.

Dancers receiving awards this year were:

Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the home of Barbara Hente for a presentation on "Prudent Heart Living and CPR."

The speaker, Jim Monaghan, a Granite City firefighter and instructor for the Heart Association in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, discussed ways to prevent heart problems by not smoking, avoiding stress, keeping weight and cholesterol low, and exercising.

The early warning signs of heart attack are severe crushing pain, shortness of breath, nausea, profuse sweating, and a feeling of doom, he said. CPR is used for heart attack victims and also electric shock victims, drowning, suffocation and any cases where breathing has stopped.

Monaghan noted that hospitals teach CPR classes about once a month and that it is mandatory in Seattle, Wash., for all students in sixth, eighth and 12th grades to be trained in CPR. The death rate from heart attacks there has dropped since this training began in the schools, he said. The speaker demonstrated CPR techniques on "Chris Clear," a CPR mannequin.

Mrs. Hente conducted a business meeting and plans were completed for the chapter's Christmas party on Dec. 27. Judy Broshov, service chairman, announced that she and several members will be attending an Operation Lift-Off dinner and taking toys which the chapter has donated.

Police

GC driver nabbed for .42 blood alcohol level

The Illinois Department of Public Health this year has recorded five motorists around the state with blood alcohol levels of more than four times the legal limit.

"It stretches the imagination that anyone who would consume enough alcohol to register more than 40 percent on a breathalyzer would even consider trying to drive," said Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, state health director. "Such persons are endangering their own health by overindulging and threatening the lives of others by trying to drive."

At levels about 40 percent, the average person would be unable to operate a motor vehicle because he would be unconscious - or dead.

Any person with a blood alcohol level of 10 percent or higher is considered legally drunk and should not be behind the wheel, Turnock said. The implied consent program of the state health department supplies breathalyzers to Illinois law enforcement agencies, trains law enforcement personnel in the use of the equipment, and is responsible for maintenance.

The highest individual blood alcohol levels reported to the department this year by police agencies are: Alton, .46; Granite City, .42; Fairview Heights, .42; and Herrin and North Chicago, both .41.

Alton police report the motorist who registered .46 on a breathalyzer and a blood test was a 31-year-old man whose car rammed a parked car. Police said that, when arrested, the man had trouble standing and would not or could not talk.

Health experts report that at .02 percent blood alcohol level, the average person shows a mild change in driving and may be slightly elated. At .05 percent, the driver becomes hesitant and alternates between "who cares?" and impulsive aggression.

By .10 percent, the driver is legally considered under the influence of alcohol. His judgment has been seriously affected, and his coordination has been impaired.

The typical person becomes unmistakably drunk with all faculties seriously affected at .15 percent, stuporous at .30 percent, and unconscious, possibly in a coma and on the verge of death, at .40 percent.

Turnock said, "During the observance of 'Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week' this week, people who drink and drive should take the time to reexamine their habits so they and their families can have a joyous holiday season free for tragedy."

Allen praises citizens alert to crime threats

Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen has awarded "certificates of merit" to four Alton residents, as part of a program instituted by Allen to give special recognition to citizens who performed an act that resulted in the prevention of a crime or the apprehension of a criminal.

The awards were presented at a meeting of the Upper Alton Business Association to Eugene Talbert, Stewart Wiegand, Geoff Wiegand and David Blaslaia.

"In November there was an elderly gentleman returning to his car in Upper Alton. Mr. Talbert noticed the man was being followed by three youths and became suspicious," Allen said.

"He contacted Mr. Blaslaia, who was working at a nearby Clark Service Station, and alerted him to call the police. The two then proceeded to the alley where they had observed the three youths following the elderly man. At the same time, the Wiegands heard a commotion in the alley and saw three youths attacking a man. The two ran into the alley."

"The four were able to scare off the youths and stopped the attack before any serious physical harm was done or the attempted robbery was completed. They were then able to give a good description to the police, who had arrived quickly on the scene.

"In short time, the police had arrested three suspects and the witnesses were able to give the police a positive identification," Allen said.

"All too often, citizens take the attitude that they don't want to get involved. This type of attitude gives the criminal a clear field.

"We could double the police forces, we could double the judges and we could double the prosecutors, but without citizen involvement it would all be for naught."

"The people who work and shop in Upper Alton and all the citizens of Alton should be extremely proud of these four people. They prevented an elderly man from being seriously injured and helped the police make a speedy apprehension. These good citizens have put criminals on record that they should not and cannot do business in Alton."

Allen said one of the suspects will be charged under a new law that makes it a felony to commit a crime against a senior citizen.

"What would have been a misdemeanor crime of battery was upgraded to a felony charge of aggravated battery because the victim was a senior citizen," he said.

ALCOHOL, OTHER CHARGES FILED AGAINST ALTON MEN

Charles A. Parker, 33, of Alton was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol and improper lane usage after his vehicle collided with an auto driven by Tarcey R. Culpen, 21, of 2419 Angela Drive, at 5:15 p.m. Dec. 17 at 22nd Street and Washington Avenue.

Parker's passenger, Bruce E. Parker, 30, also of Alton, allegedly left the auto and placed a sack, containing several bottles of beer, in a backyard at 2211 Washington. He was charged with unlawful possession of alcohol and littering.

FIRE SET IN VACANT HOUSE

Paper set ablaze by someone was the cause of a fire at an abandoned house at 2311 E. 24th St. at 4:35 p.m. Dec. 17, firefighters said. A witness observed two youths running from the house. No estimate of the amount of the loss was given. The fire is under investigation.

$10,000 DAMAGE IN FIRE IN FUEL TANK OF TRUCK

A fire caused $10,000 damage to a tractor-trailer cab driven by Leonard Young of Pilot Knob, Mo., at 5:35 p.m. Dec. 17, Granite City firemen said.

The blaze started when a fuel tank on the truck ignited while the vehicle was at 3005 Edwardsville Road. Cause of the fire is unknown.

ITEMS TAKEN FROM HOME

Lisa Ely of 2131 Hillebrand Ave., Cloverleaf Addition, told Madison County authorities Dec. 16 someone took a camera, assorted jewelry and clothing from her home. Value of the items is $500.

CANNABIS WARRANTS SERVED

Kristie Mathis, 27, of 4120 Kaseberg Lane, Pontoon Beach, and Patricia Bunford, 30, of 2224 Washington Ave. were served warrants Dec. 17 by Madison County authorities alleging unlawful delivery of cannabis.

TWO ARRESTED BY COUNTY

Richard Powers, 25, of 1023 Market St., Venice, and Elvie McMillion, 22, of 707 W. Washington St., Madison, were arrested Dec. 18 by Madison County deputies on warrants alleging contempt of court.

THREE INJURED IN MISHAP

Joan J. Darman, 45, of 2537 Circle Drive, Barbara L. Sowell, 36, of 2132 Dawn Place, and the latter's passenger, Christina M. Sowell, 4, were treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for injuries after their cars collided at 12:04 p.m. Dec. 17 at Pontoon Road and Wabash Avenue.

Number of women lawyers increasing in this region

As Madison County's only woman judge, Lola Maddox has been called everything from sweetie to sir. But she takes it in stride, taking exception only when she feels she's being pushed.

Just ask the male attorney who kept calling her honey. The third time, she had enough.

"Listen sweetheart, that's Judge Honey to you," she told him. Since then, it's been a joke.

Maddox, an associate judge, isn't the only woman with such problems. Others in the area practicing law say the experience is common.

"It annoys me," said Edwardsville attorney Gail Duncley Bader. "You just overlook it. It's not worth it to your client to make a big deal of it."

Some women say older men in the profession view them differently than young men.

"They treat you like maybe you're a daughter or a young lady," said Mary Massa of Alton.

Massa, 34, said when she graduated from law school last year, 40 percent of her classmates were women. She said she expects attitudes to change as the number of women lawyers rises.

East Alton attorney Jeanne L. Sathre, 35, said she has seen women become more accepted in the profession in the 10 years she has practiced law.

But just five years ago, she was humiliated by a workmen's compensation judge in St. Louis.

"I was pregnant at the time," she recalled. "He said he didn't think women should be attorneys and particularly pregnant women. He made me show him my bar card."

Women lawyers say sexism is less evident in Madison County courts than in some cited in the December issue of the American Bar Association's ABA Journal.

Edwardsville attorney Stephanie Robbins said she believes the mix of ethnic groups in the county has encouraged liberal attitudes.

"This is a fairly open county," she said. "Once you get into the courtroom it's everybody for himself."

Robbins opened a law firm with Barbara Crowder two years ago. There is the only all-female partnership in the Metro East area.

The fact that both partners are women is coincidental, Robbins said. They just decided they would work well together, she said.

Susan F. Grammer, 36, has had her own practice in Bethalto since passing the bar in 1982. So far, she hasn't experienced sexism in law here.

That's partly because of the small-town atmosphere in Madison County, she said.

"It's a little more informal, a little more friendly. I feel I'm treated the same way as anyone else in the court."

"If you're competent, it really doesn't matter. I don't think anyone has ever not used me or not referred me because I am a woman."

Grammer said some people even seek women attorneys for child custody and other family cases to try to appear more credible.

Some chose her because they wanted a business woman, she said. "They figured a woman who had her own business was very competent and successful."

Edwardsville attorney Teresa Kessler also feels she's been treated fairly. "I've never felt I've had a ruling from a judge that's been influenced by my being a woman," she said.

Yet her sex was taken into account before she landed her job at Reed, Armstrong, Gorman and Co-frey four years ago.

"We'd never hired a lady attorney," said Harry Armstrong. "I think anyone's leery when you go off into something you've never tried before. It was a new venture."

Fortunately, it's been a successful venture; Armstrong said gender won't be a factor in future hirings.

"I'm real happy with her and proud of her," he said. "She's done well."

Maddox became Madison County's first woman judge eight years ago. At first, she said, there was a lot of teasing about whether she would wear a dress or robe.

Her robe — a dark one like the other judges wear — makes people want to call her "sir."

"It's a reflex," she said. "People are used to judges being men."

People also assume she's a secretary or court clerk when she answers the phone, Maddox said.

And when she leaves phone messages as Judge Maddox, secretaries on the other end often ask who's calling.

Women in law also face other problems, Sathre noted. Because of the number of work hours, juggling children and careers is a challenge.

"It's difficult to convince people you're dedicated and want to spend time with the family," she said.

East Alton attorney Jane Unsell, who practices with her husband, said she considers sexual attitudes when she picks juries.

"I've always had to watch for the kind of person who wouldn't pay as much attention to a woman's opinion," she said. "Then you try to get that person off your jury."

Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen of Granite City says low salaries in his office probably deter women from applying to be prosecutors.

GC MAN SERVED WARRANTS.

ANOTHER MAN ALSO CHARGED. James C. Stuart, 30, of 3009 Buxton Ave., was served warrants by Granite City police Dec. 17 on charges of unlawful use of firearms by a felon and reckless conduct.

When officers approached Stuart's home, Larry Downs, 31, of the same address, allegedly refused to tell officers where Stuart was. Police later found Stuart in an upstairs bedroom.

Downs was charged with obstructing a police officer and was released on $102 cash bail.

WOMAN ARRESTED FOR BATTERY.

Cheryl E. Wylie, 17, of the 1000 block of Edison Avenue was arrested for battery Dec. 17. She allegedly struck Micelle Silvestre, of the 800 block of Madison Avenue, on the right side of the face with her fist. Wylie was released on a notice to appear at a hearing.

STREET SWEEPER HITS CAR.

A city-owned street sweeper, driven by Randall K. Adams, 29, of 2825 Denver St., struck the rear of a parked car in front of 4 Country Lane Court at 9:20 a.m. Dec. 17. The auto is owned by Robert P. Maddox of 7 Country Lane Court.

SUNGLASSES, KEYS TAKEN.

Marietta Bigham, 2764 Iowa St., said Dec. 16 a burglar took a pair of sunglasses and a set of keys from her parked van.

MONEY, WHISKEY TAKEN.

A burglar entered Pete and Mary's Tavern, 2409 Lincoln Ave., Dec. 16 and took an undetermined amount of money from a cash register, a large glass jar containing about $100 in pennies and several bottles of whiskey.

APARTMENTS BURGLARIZED.

A burglar entered 2510 Parkway Drive, Apt. 1, and took a photo copier, telephone, radio, typewriter, answering machine and assorted tools Dec. 16. Police believe the same intruder entered 2510 Parkway, Apt. 3, and took a portable AM-FM stereo, several cans of paint and a paint roller. The apartment was vacant and was being rented.

BURGLAR TAKES WATCHES.

Jean Hileman, 2330 Lynch Ave., said Dec. 15 a burglar entered her home and took two watches, valued at $600, from a jewelry box in a bedroom of the home.

ITEMS TAKEN FROM VAN.

David Schmidt, of 1641 Fifth St., Madison, told Granite City police Dec. 15 a burglar entered his van, parked near 25th Street, and took a chain saw, a refrigerator vacuum pump, two grinders and a nail shooter. Some of the items were later recovered.

AUTO LOOTED BY BURGLAR.

Tracey Rose of 2429 Wilson Ave. said Dec. 16 a burglar took an AM-FM cassette stereo, a power booster and the battery from her auto while it was in her driveway. Value of the missing items is $141.

JACK STOLEN FROM AUTO.

Mike Wakefield, 1716 Primrose Ave., said Dec. 16 a burglar took a hydraulic jack, valued at $280, from the back seat of his car while the vehicle was parked in his driveway.

BURGLAR TAKES WEED EATER.

Herman Cruse of 2833 Washington Ave. reported Dec. 16 a burglar entered his backyard shed and took a "weed eater" valued at $110.

APARTMENT SPRAY-PAINTED.

James Dunn of 3236 Johnson Road, owner of an apartment building at 2601 E. 25th St., said Dec. 16 someone sprayed black paint throughout one of the apartments.

ARREST ON THEFT, BATTERY.

Shirley A. Sharp, 24, of 710 Jefferson Ave., Madison, was arrested Dec. 16 for retail theft and battery. She allegedly took two coats, valued at $120, from K mart, 3655 Nameoki Road. When a security officer approached her outside the store, Sharp allegedly ran back inside, injuring assistant manager Jerry Yeager. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for scratches on his left arm.

"I've attempted to hire more," he said. "Unfortunately, the salaries we're paying don't draw them."

"Girls are by and large better students than the guys," he added. "Big companies snatch them up and use them. They're way above average."

The state's attorney's office has only one full-time woman prosecutor, Susan Jensen of Glen Carbon.

"If you get a girl who is married and they've got two incomes, like Susan and her husband, then it works," he said, adding that his assistants start out at about $18,000 a year.

Jensen, whose annual salary is $28,000, agreed that the starting pay is low. But she said it should be enough for a single person with no dependents.

Jensen said she has been a prosecutor for eight years because she enjoys the work.

"It's about the best place for high-level trial work," she said. She said she hasn't experienced sexism in the office or in court.

Allen said he does not know why men might settle for lower salaries than women. At least one of his assistants saves money by living with his parents, he noted. "Maybe the girls are out living on their own," he said.

The Madison County public defender's office has no full-time women lawyers.

Public Defender John Rekowski said there has been no turnover in full-time assistants since he assumed his post in 1984.

He has received applications from women, but does not expect his three full-time assistants to leave soon. "They're good people and I'm not going to lay anybody off," he said.

Ways to avoid life-threatening hazards during the Christmas season

(An Illinois State Medical Society column by Dr. Joseph Perez of Rockford.)

The Christmas season is a time of good cheer. But it also can be a time of tragedy if holiday safety considerations are overlooked.

First and foremost is the threat posed by faulty Christmas lights and other fire hazards. Every year, consumers are warned about these hazards, but killing fires continue to occur.

When selecting a Christmas tree for indoor display, take the time to find the freshest one possible. When you find one that's a prime candidate, shake it a few times and bounce it on the ground. If the tree's needles fall off too easily, it's a sure sign the tree is already too dry.

Be sure to set up your tree away from any source of heat — hot air ducts, radiators, fireplaces, televisions and electrical appliances. Cut a couple of inches off the base of the tree and place it in a stand that holds water. And check the stand every day to make sure the stand remains filled with water.

Be sure to set up your tree out of harm's way. Keep it well clear of walking areas, doorways, or places where it could be easily tipped over by small children or pets.

When decorating the tree, use only strings of lights that have a seal of approval from a recognized testing laboratory. Check every inch of every string of lights. Look for any cracked insulation, bare wires, broken bulbs or sockets, and loose connections. If you find any, throw the set away. Don't try to cover up the problem with electrical tape or patch it in any other way.

When hanging lights on the tree, make sure the string is disconnected. And, of course, never leave the lights on when no one is around or if only small children are on hand.

Every home also should have on hand at least one good multi-purpose fire extinguisher and an adequate number of smoke detectors.

The threat of fire is not the only hazard posed by holiday decorations. For example:

- Gift wrapping paper may contain lead or other toxins that can be especially dangerous if chewed or swallowed by children. Burning gift wrap also can release hazardous substances, so don't burn wrappings in the fireplace.

- Artificial snow sprays used on trees and windows can prove irritating to the throat and lungs, so be sure to use these products only as directed by the manufacturer.

- Decorations of spun glass can shed tiny bits of glass that can harm eyes and skin. Wear gloves when handling such decorations, and keep them out of the reach of children.

- Don't use ornaments or other tree trimmings that might look edible to young children. They could result in choking.

With respect to small children, take special care when choosing their Christmas presents. Several consumer groups issue annual lists of particularly dangerous toys.

Avoid toys that have small parts that can be detached and swallowed. And watch out for those with sharp edges or hazardous projectiles.

Unless you plan to spend the holiday season in the sunny South, remember to use common sense in dealing with cold-weather hazards. Bundle up warmly when shopping for your Christmas tree. Frostbite can be a real hazard.

Treatment of superficial frostbite is simple: get indoors immediately and avoid further exposure. Warm the affected area with direct body heat or warm (not hot) water. If the skin feels particularly solid, if it is cold, waxy and pale, or if it turns blue or purple upon thawing, the frostbite might be deep. In these cases, immediate medical attention should be sought.

Contrary to popular belief, drinking alcohol does not help keep the body warm in cold weather. It actually has the opposite effect. So take it easy at holiday parties.

A good rule of thumb is to limit yourself to one drink per hour. And stop drinking about an hour before you plan to do any driving.

If you're hosting a holiday party, offer your guests non-alcoholic choices. Fruit juices are good alternatives because they supply vitamins, nutrients and added fluids that will help the body rid itself of the toxic wastes that result from alcohol.

Obituaries

Everts

William E. Everts Sr., 41, of 4067 Bruene Ave., was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis at 7:14 a.m. Friday, Dec. 19, 1986, after suffering an apparent heart attack at work.

Born March 24, 1945, in Granite City, Mr. Everts was a lifetime resident here.

He was employed the past three years as a driver at Cerro Copper Co. in Sauget. Previously he worked at American Steel Foundries.

Mr. Everts was of the Catholic faith. He was preceded in death by a brother, John D. Everts, in 1972.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Sharon (Finkler) Everts; a daughter, Melissa Everts of Granite City; two sons, William E. Everts and Paul Henry Everts, both of Alton; his mother, Mrs. Beulah Everts of Granite City; and a brother, Robert Everts of Caseyville.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave. Friends may call 877-6500 for details.

Gauen

Mrs. Cleo (Martin) Gauen, 77, of East Newmarket, Md., died at 3:20 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19, 1986, at Memorial Hospital in Eastern Maryland.

Born Sept. 27, 1909, in Madison, Mrs. Gauen resided most of her life in the Quad-City Area. She had lived at East Newmarket since 1981.

Mrs. Gauen was a member of the Secretary United Methodist Church in Secretary, Md.

Among the survivors are her husband, Kenneth R. Gauen; two sons, Barry Gauen of Granite City and Richard Gauen of East Newmarket; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Arrangements are pending at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave. Friends may call 877-6500 for details.

Jung

Leroy Jung, 67, of Granite City, died at 2:30 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 20, 1986, at Pleasant Rest Nursing Home in Collinsville. He was a patient there one month.

Mr. Jung's wife, Josephine, died May 5, 1986.

Among the survivors are a son, Walter Jung of Washington, Mo.; and two daughters, Cathy and Debra Jung, both of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave. Friends may call 877-6500 for details.

Phillips

Josephine (Mangiaracino) Phillips, 74, of 4420 Nameoki Road, ill for six months, died at 8:10 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 18, 1986, in the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Born in Convent, La., Mrs. Phillips lived in Granite City for 35 years and formerly resided in Venice.

Mrs. Phillips was of the Catholic faith.

She and her husband, Lantz Phillips, who survives, were married in 1947 in Arkansas.

Survivors include four brothers, Tony, Clifford and Bernard Mang, all of Granite City, and Sam Mang of Venice; and one sister, Mrs. Ann Cleo of Venice.

She was preceded in death by two sisters, Angelina Scaturro and Mary Vaughn.

Visitation and a prayer service were held Friday at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, where the Rev. Lohman officiated at a 10 a.m. service Saturday.

Burial was at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville. Memorials are suggested for St. Mark's Catholic Church in Venice or Masses.

Polach

Joseph Polach Jr., 75, of Granite City, died at 6:05 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 18, 1986, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was a patient for two weeks.

A native of Texas, he moved to Granite City 47 years ago. Mr. Polach worked as a welder at Granite City Steel for many years until retiring in 1973.

He was a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mildred (Holmes) Polach; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Mary) Pieper and Mrs. Tina Foret, and two sons, Charles and Joey Polach, all of Granite City; two brothers, Charles Polach, Madison, and Frank Polach, Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Joseph (Mildred) Votupal, Granite City; 18 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Visitation will begin at 2 p.m. today (Sunday) at Pieper Funeral Home, 1229 Cleveland Blvd., where the Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. Henry Schmidt will celebrate a 10 a.m. Mass Monday at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Johnson and Pontoon roads. Burial will be at Buck Road Cemetery, Collinsville.

Waugh

Mrs. Edna E. (Green) Waugh, 78, of 2310 Missouri Ave., was pronounced dead at her home at 1:35 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 20, 1986. She was ill since October.

Mrs. Waugh was born in Rolla, Mo., and resided in St. Louis County before moving to Granite City 15 years ago.

She was a member of Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church. Her husband, Jesse James Waugh, died June 8, 1971.

Among the survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Roy (Mary) Whitaker of Granite City, Mrs. Alta Beatty of Florissant, Mo., and Mrs. Ethel Ashby of Uniontown, Ky.; two sons, Roy Waugh of Granite City and Robert Waugh of Glen Carbon; one brother, Wesley Green of Louisiana; four sisters, Mrs. Carl (Grace) Garner of Rocky Mount, Mo., Mrs. Iola Godber of Moark, Ark., Mrs. George (Dorothy) Horn of Spanish Lake, Mo., and Orlene (Dorothy) Louis; 15 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Visitation starts at 11 a.m. today (Sunday) at Mercor Mortuary, 416 Niedringhaus Ave., where services will be conducted by the Rev. Leon Bell and the Rev. James Drysdale at 1 p.m. Monday. Burial will be at Mount Lebanon Cemetery in St. Louis County.

Wilson
Mrs. Malissia (Bogges) Wilson, 83, of 2208 Ohio Ave., died at 12:04 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19, 1986, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was a patient since Dec. 13.

Born July 7, 1903, in Hopkinsville, Ky., Mrs. Wilson resided 60 years in Granite City. She was of the Baptist faith.

Mrs. Wilson worked most of her life as a seamstress before retiring. She was employed many years at Midwest Curtain Co. and at a garment company, both in St. Louis.

She was a member of the Navy Mothers.

Mrs. Wilson was preceded in death by her husband, William Wilson, in 1976. Her first husband, Charles Evans, died in 1965.

Among the survivors are three sons, Jesse and Earl D. Evans Sr., both of Granite City, and Daniel L. Evans of Houston, Texas; two daughters, Mrs. Christine Nevgiv of Eagle River, Wis., and Martha Walker of Keyesport, Ill.; two stepchildren, Mrs. Charlene Fife of Vandalia and Ray Evans of Mexico Beach, Fla.; three sisters, Mrs. Delpha Fenwick of Owensboro, Ky., Mrs. Della Keown of Crawford, Ind., and Mrs. Marie Rager of Kentucky; 26 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Visitation starts at 4 p.m. today (Sunday) at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave. Services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Monday by the Rev. Frank Rogers at Cedar View General Baptist Church, 3700 Ruth St., Pontoon Beach. Burial will be at St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road.

Rites conducted for Arline C. Noah, 69
Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Ray Ogile at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, for Arline C. (Shepard) Noah, 69, of 4100 Division St.

She died at 12:10 p.m. Monday, Dec. 15, 1986, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She was ill for four years.

Born in St. Louis, she lived in this area for 36 years. Mrs. Noah was of the Baptist faith and was a member of American Legion Auxiliary 280, Normandy, Mo.

She and her husband, Frank Noah, who survives, were married in St. Louis on July 29, 1939.

Other survivors include five daughters, Mrs. Bud (Arlene) Watkins, Mrs. Kenneth (Florence) Tippler, Mrs. Robert (Arlene) Sutton, Mrs. Jack (Nina) Focht and Miss Judy, all of Granite City; a son, Allen Noah of Smyrna, Ga.; one brother, the Rev. Clarence Shepard, Atlanta, Ga.; two sisters, Florence Locke, St. Louis, and Mrs. Earl (Louise) Spalding, Sacramento, Calif.; 13 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Burial was at National Cemetery, Jefferson Barracks, Mo. Memorials are suggested for the American Heart Association.

business activity is expected to generate additional income for the city, including the municipal portion of state sales tax collections.

In other business, Rick Tutka, city comptroller, was given council approval to pay the first installment of $38,100 on a new liability insurance policy.

Before the next premium is due in July 1987, the city should receive in-kind 1986 taxes, easing cash flow problems, he said.

CONCERN and disappointment were voiced on higher cable TV rates, with the highest jump in monthly fees affecting senior citizens.

They are now paying $4.40, which will rise to $8.95.

Cencom Cable completed its acquisition of South-Western Cable Co. and sent a letter to the council noting rates will rise Jan. 1, when cable systems are deregulated.

Stuart

Madison man blamed in homicide/suicide

When floor and Mr. Stuart was lying on the floor between the kitchen and a bedroom door.

A LAB REPORT analyzing the clothing showed Mrs. Stuart was shot in the center of the chest by a gun no farther away than 3 feet to 4 feet. A bullet entered the left side of the chest of Ruth Rapoff from a 1-foot distance.

Mr. Stuart was shot twice in the upper chest area. Analysis of his shirt determined the gun was fired from less than 6 inches from his chest.

A .35 caliber semi-automatic revolver, identified as Mr. Stuart's, was found on the floor 8 inches from his right hand. He was right-handed.

DR. RAJ NANDURI, a certified forensic pathologist from the SIMBA Laboratory in Collinsville, conducted the autopsy in Granite City. Her report indicated that she was involved in the blood test of Mrs. Stuart and a very small amount in the test of Mrs. Rapoff.

The intoxication rate set by law is 10 percent and it was said Mr.

Hanke

Alderman Hanke seeks new city job

A contract, voiding of retirement benefits and severance pay if laid off are also wanted by Hanke, Cruse said.

Hanke would resign from the council if appointed, Cruse said.

It's not a "big political deal," Hanke said.

An apartment building owner in the city, Hanke said he sees no conflict in being public works director. The position would make him a member of the board of appeals under the newly proposed occupancy permit ordinance. However, the city engineer could take the board position in Hanke's place if a potential conflict of interest should arise.

"CERTAINLY I wouldn't be there addressing my own property," he said.

Hanke said he is satisfied to work at the Saugat Treatment Plant. He was formerly an engineer at the St. Louis Area Support Center (the depot), and a construction manager for Broker Associates at such projects as reconstruction at St. Louis Lambert International Airport. He once owned his own engineering firm and is a licensed professional engineer in five states.

The alderman holds a bachelor's degree in civil engineering and a master's degree in engineering management from the University of Missouri-Rolla.

"WE'D be very fortunate to be able to hire a person with his qualifications," Cruse said.

Cruse said Hanke is the fifth person to apply for the job.

If a public works director is named, acting City Engineer Ed Schulze would return to his previous role as motor fuel tax engineer.

PUBLIC works director would serve as city engineer, the Nameoki area sewer repair coordinator, and be a liaison with the street department and sewage treatment plant.

The last alderman to accept a city job was former 4th Ward Alderman Phil Miller, in 1985.

THE WAVELENGTH IS MOVING!

Effective with the issue of January 2, 1987, "The WAVELENGTH" TV listing information will be moved from our Sunday paper to Thursday. The format will remain unchanged and listings will run from Friday through Thursday.

Due to cost factors involved, it is no longer feasible to publish "The WAVELENGTH" in our free distribution Sunday paper. We considered dropping the listings completely, but have been able to restructure our costs by moving the television listings to Thursdays. We sincerely hope that our readers who have come to depend on "The WAVELENGTH" will continue to find them useful.

Some taxpayers may be required to make estimated tax payments

Taxpayers who receive income not subject to withholding, or who receive wages that are not fully covered by withholding, may be required to make estimated tax payments, the IRS said this week.

According to the Internal Revenue Service, over 11 million estimated tax payments totaling $54.8 billion are made by individual taxpayers each year.

Estimated tax payments are generally required by taxpayers who are self-employed, and from individuals who receive interest, dividends, capital gains, rent, pensions and other types of income.

Taxpayers who are liable for additional taxes such as the alternative minimum tax, tax from recapture of investment credit, Social Security tax on tips, or tax on an individual retirement account may also be required to make estimates.

Individuals who have determined that they are required to make estimated payments generally submit them to the IRS in four equal installments during the year. The installment amounts may be adjusted upward or downward depending on changes in a taxpayer's income.

The essential thing to remember, IRS cautions, is that for 1986 the installments must cover 90 percent of the federal tax liability, including any credits for withholding by an employer, financial institution or tax overpayments credited from a prior year tax return.

The installment amounts increase to 90 percent for 1987.

Taxpayers who fail to meet the estimated tax payment requirements are subject to an underpayment of estimated tax penalty.

The installment due dates for making estimated tax payments, except for farmers, are April 15, June 15, Sept. 15 and Jan. 15.

Farmers have an alternative to the estimated tax payment requirements if at least two-thirds of their gross income is from farming. They may make one estimated tax payment on or before Jan. 15, or need not make any installment. If they elect to file their federal tax return and pay the total tax due by March 2.

The IRS has two publications which discuss estimated tax payment requirements: Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax, and Publication 225, Farmers Tax Guide. These publications, along with the estimated tax payment vouchers, can be ordered from the IRS by calling toll free 1-800-824-FORM.

Year-end closings, deadlines

All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed for Christmas and New Year's. Sec. of State Jim Edgar has announced.

All will be closed Christmas Day, Thursday, Dec. 25, and will reopen Friday, Dec. 26. They also will be closed New Year's Day, Thursday, Jan. 1, and will resume business on Friday, Jan. 2.

Normal hours will be observed Dec. 24 and 31.

Edgar is reminding motor vehicle owners with passenger license plates expiring in December to buy their renewal stickers and/or new plates at the Secretary of State facility or financial institution. It is now too late to send applications by mail and receive stickers and plates before the Dec. 31 expiration date.

Stickers or plates for company-owned passenger vehicles are available at facilities in Springfield and Chicago and at more than 1,500 financial institutions, including 762 banks.

Leased passenger vehicle plates and/or stickers may only be purchased at the Centennial Building in Springfield, the three chief Chicago facilities and the Chicago downtown facility (for 10 applications or less).

Recreational vehicle and recreational trailer plates for 1987 are also available at Secretary of State facilities.

Tow truck plates are available at all facilities except the downtown Chicago facility at 100 W. Randolph. All other 1987 calendar miscellaneous plates, including those for commuter vans and fertilizer spreaders, may only be purchased at the Centennial Building in Springfield.

Effective Thursday, Jan. 1, 1987, anyone driving one of the above vehicles with an expired sticker or plates will be subject to a fine for improper registration.

Edgar also announced that the deadline to display 1987 calendar-year Illinois appointment plates on trucks, truck tractors, buses and trailers under the International Registration Plan, and private base plates and decals, has been extended to midnight Feb. 28, 1987, in accordance with the other 35 states and one Canadian province that are jurisdictional members of the plan.

State blocking some expansions

The Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board rejected $80 million in proposed construction and equipment purchases during Fiscal Year 1986.

Hospitals, medical centers and nursing homes must apply to the board for a certificate of need before undertaking major capital projects, including construction of a new facility, closing an existing facility, substantially changing bed capacity, or purchasing equipment costing more than $400,000.

Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, state health director, said, "Requiring medical facilities to demonstrate a need for expansion or addition of major equipment prevents unnecessary expenses that would escalate medical costs at a faster rate."

During fiscal 1986, ending last June 30, the board received 190 requests for $332 million in projects and approved $302 million.

The 13-member board was created in 1974 by the Illinois General Assembly. Since 1975, the board has reviewed projects worth $4.82 billion, approving $4.25 billion and denying $570 million.

The board's annual report contains specifics of all projects proposed during 1986. Copies are available free of charge from the Illinois Department of Public Health, Health Facilities Development, 535 W. Jefferson, Springfield, Ill. 62761.

County treasurers, recorders get bonus

SPRINGFIELD — County treasurers and recorders of deeds will get a $3,500-a-year start-bonus soon as a result of actions by the Illinois General Assembly.

Madison County Treasurer Mick Hendikus was among the treasurers who applauded from the Senate gallery after the senators voted to override Gov. James Thompson's veto of the stipend for treasurers on a 53-1 vote.

Sen. Sam Vadala, D-

Edwardsville, voted for the override. The override passed the House a few weeks earlier.

Thompson contended treasurers had been given few additional duties to justify the pay bonus, but supporters of the measure contended they had been given numerous additional duties by the state.

They will join county clerks and circuit clerks in getting extra checks from the state. Those groups of county officials had earlier been given the same stipends.

Charity gifts by County Bar

The Madison County Bar Association has donated $3,000 to charities in the county for assistance to needy families during the holidays.

Madison County Bar President Robert Wm. Bosslet Jr. of the firm of Morris B. Chapman & Associates Ltd., 1406 Niedringhaus Ave., Granite City, presented $800 to the Protestant Welfare Association in Granite City, as well as $600 to the Collinsville Ministerial Alliance.

Vice President Joseph R. Brown Jr. of the firm of Lucco & Brown, Edwardsville, gave a check for $600 to the Thanks Organization in Edwardsville.

Treasurer Christopher B. Hunter of Farrell & Long P.C., Godfrey, presented $600 to the Crisis Food Center in Alton, and Secretary Thomas E. Hildebrand Jr. of the firm of Brandt, Slate and Hildebrand delivered $600 to the St. Vincent DePaul Society of Highland.

Wins scholarship

Mike Ramey of Granite City, a senior at Granite City High School, has been awarded a Presidential Scholarship from Monmouth College in Monmouth, Ill.

Ramey was one of 10 students to win such an award from Monmouth. He is the son of Gale and Judith Thornton of Granite City.

Much-honored Sen. Vadalabene out of display space

SPRINGFIELD — The plaques and other awards covering his Statehouse office walls and back home in Edwardsville there are so many he has to pile them up in the closet.

He is an honorary riverboat pilot, an honorary firefighter and an honorary lawyer.

"The Father of Civic Centers," the "Father of the Bicycles," the "Father of Railroad Safety" and "Mr. Library" are some of his honorary titles.

He was declared an Honorary Citizen of Peoria and was given a key to the city of Springfield. He seems most proud of the Sam M. Vadalabene Center at SIUE but his Statehouse office walls also include photos of the two racehorses named after him, the towboat named after him and the two bike trails named after him. There are also two streets, a stretch of highway and a park that are his namesakes.

All in all, it's quite a Walter Mitty dream come true for the diminutive septuagenarian whose parents were immigrants from Italy. His Senate district includes the Quad-City Area.

Senator Sam, who seems to be on a first name basis with just about everyone in the Statehouse building as well as a good many of his constituents, will mark his 20th anniversary in the General Assembly next month.

He's not yet first in seniority but he may be the most decorated member of the legislature.

He has received 150 plaques and other awards, mostly from various associations for whom he has sponsored bills.

"I think if you ask their lobbyists they can tell you I'm probably one of the hardest working and most effective legislators in the Capitol building. I won't take a bill unless I believe in it and will take it to the end, and I have a pretty good batting average," Vadalabene said.

"They just started giving me all these awards. I didn't solicit them, but I'm honored to go ahead."

"I've been getting an average of two or three a month this year. I haven't even had time to pick up all of them."

Long out of wall display space, he says the avalanche of awards is looking for a new home.

Vadalabene said he'd like to get a room at the Vadalabene Center at SIUE to display them. SIUE President Earl Lazerson said they had talked about it but nothing has been done yet.

Sen. Sam's admirers are an eclectic group.

They range from the Illinois Hospital Association to the Duck & Goosehunters Alliance, and from the Associated General Contractors to 9 on panel studying pump station repair

Gov. James R. Thompson said Dec. 16 he has established a state government working group to seek funding for repair of a pump station in the Metro East Sanitary District.

Failure of a floodgate there flooded part of East St. Louis this fall.

"This working group will bring together agency experts from many different areas of state government to accurately assess the needs and the costs of the problem and to determine the best way to pay for needed repairs."

"While the state cannot afford the general revenue costs contained in a recent bill approved by the General Assembly, we will work with legislators and groups in the Metro East area to best remedy this serious potential problem," the governor said.

"I encourage legislators and community leaders who are seeking a solution to this pressing problem to work with us to find the best way to solve it."

Thompson named Kathy Slecke, his deputy chief of staff, to head a group composed of the following:

Richard Carlson of the Environmental Protection Agency, Chuck Jones of the Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, Don Vonnahme of the Division of Water Resources, Greg Coler of the Department of Public Aid, Jay Hedges of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, Dr. Robert Mandeville of the Bureau of the Budget, Galen Reser of the State of Illinois Washington office and Dr. Bernard Turnock of the Department of Public Health.

Thompson said the group will work as quickly as possible in an attempt to establish a funding source for the repairs in time for spring.

The pump station was constructed by the Corps of Engineers and is operated and maintained by Metro East Sanitary District.

In vetoing a $1 million grant to the district the previous week, Thompson cited the lack of state money and the "responsibility of the district to repair, maintain and operate the pump station."

He also said in his veto that the Illinois EPA, the agency the $1 million would have been appropriated to for the grant, "does not make grants or have expertise in the area of pump stations and flood control."

the Township Officials of Illinois.

Veterans organizations around the state have been particularly appreciative of his efforts on their behalf, giving him several handsome plaques. Vadalabene is a World War II combat veteran in Europe and picked up three Bronze Stars and some other decorations there as well.

One of the most striking awards he received this year was a handsome bronze statue of a racehorse and jockey, presented by the Illinois Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Foundation.

Vadalabene used to regale his Senate colleagues with announcements on how well his two equine namesakes were doing at the track.

"Sen. Sam M.V." and "Slamming Senator Sam" were thoroughbred racehorses owned by Vadalabene's long-time good friend, Jim Ginalick, who raises horses on his farm just outside Edwardsville.

There was a consolation later. Earlier this year, he was named an honorary member of the Illinois Division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association.

Ginalick takes credit for getting Vadalabene interested in sponsoring legislation to benefit the horseracing industry in the state, which has shown its appreciation by numerous awards since.

"Sen. Sam M.V." starting in 1975 had 51 starts over three years with three wins, eight seconds and four thirds.

"Slamming Senator Sam" started racing two or three years later. He had two wins, two seconds and eight thirds in 37 starts over four years, Ginalick said.

He chuckled about the time the two-legged Sen. Sam tried to become the jockey for the four-legged Sen. Sam. The track stewards dashed Vadalabene's hopes of being another Willie Shoemaker.

But there was a consolation later. Earlier this year, he was named an honorary member of the Illinois Division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association.

Time to check your Social Security name, number on payment stubs

To protect their Social Security earnings records, people are urged to compare the name and number on their Social Security cards with the name and number on their pay stubs in December and the Form W-2 they receive in January.

The name and number should be exactly the same.

If the person discovers that the Social Security number on his or her pay stub is different than that on his or her Social Security card, he or she should ask the employer immediately to correct the wage records. The Social Security records can be corrected, if necessary.

Many people do not realize that the Form W-2 is the primary means of reporting their earnings to their Social Security earnings record. Each year, earnings are credited to records by matching the number and name on the Forms W-2.

A misplaced digit or letter can make a difference, and Social Security is forced to spend costly manhours attempting to reconcile the reports to the proper earnings records.

In some cases, because an incorrect name or number does not match, the earnings cannot be credited.

The Social Security number is the key to a worker's lifetime earnings record on which eligibility for and benefit amounts are based. In general, the greater the earnings, the higher the benefit amount.

People are asked to check the earnings credited to their Social Security earnings record at least once every three years. A form can be obtained from the East St. Louis Social Security office for this purpose.

For more information, Quad-Citians may call 482-9430, or if this is a long distance call, they may dial the Operator and ask for Enterprise 1-555.

Callers may file an application for benefits, change their address, apply for a Social Security card, or schedule an in-office interview by appointment.

Christmas services at St. John Lutheran

Christmas Eve will be observed at St. John Lutheran Church, 2001 St. Clair Ave., with a special service in which the Sunday School children will play a prominent part.

Each class will make its own presentation of a particular facet of the Christmas story. Members of the confirmation class will portray the Nativity scene.

The assembled worshippers will join in with fitting Christmas hymns and carols. Superintendent of the Sunday School is Mrs. Denise Schmitz and secretary is Miss Barbara Schmitz.

Teachers leading the presentations will be Mrs. Debbie Durbin, Mrs. Anita Armes, Mrs. Georgia Lostutter, Mrs. Diane McQueen, Mrs. Doris Henke, Mrs. Janice Janek and Mrs. Janet Pytkas. Assisting musically will be Miss Mindy Henke. Organist for the service will be Seminarian Robert Oeltgen.

Pastor Samuel Boda will open with a Christmas meditation. Time for the service is 6 p.m. Wednesday.

On Christmas Day, festival day of the Lord's birth, the congregation will celebrate the Savior's Incarnation with a service of thanksgiving and praise at 10:30 a.m. The pastor will give the festival Christmas message. Trumpeter will be Luther Boda, and at the organ will be Seminarian Robert Oeltgen.

On New Year's Eve, the congregation will gather for a Holy Communion service at 7 p.m. A setting using Christmas carols and hymns will be used for the celebration of the holy Sacrament. Organist will be Mrs. Phyllis Ann Jarabak of Woodbine, Md.

"The Coming of the Wise Men to worship the Christ Child" will be commemorated on Jan. 4 at 10:30 a.m. It will be an Epiphany Festival celebration with Holy communion, using still another Christmas carol setting for the sacrament.

On Dec. 20, the congregation distributed 24 Christmas baskets and cartons to needy families of this area. Chairing this project was Mrs. Denise Schmitz, assisted by Joseph and Lillian Pfeiffer and many other volunteers. Most of the names of the recipients were secured from the local Salvation Army.

JAMMIN' AT KIEL: Jesse Hall drives in for a slam dunk during the third quarter of Venice's 59-44 win over West Frankfort in the opening game of the sixth annual 7-Up Shootout Thursday night at Kiel Auditorium.

Devils conquer Kiel; clip Redbirds, 59-44

ST. LOUIS — What figured to be a great night of basketball turned out to be four games in which the winners dominated the losers.

The closest margin of victory was 10 points at the sixth annual 7-Up Shootout, and the Venice Red Devils got the evening off on a rousing note with a 59-44 win over the West Frankfort Redbirds.

While it would be hard to say the Devils (6-1 going into the Madison game Friday) looked as good or better than the three other winning teams, a case could be made that Jesse Hall was the most dominant individual player. He had 28 points and eight rebounds as he dazzled a record 7-Up Shootout crowd of 9,775 at Kiel Auditorium.

"I thought it was a mediocre performance for me," Hall said after the game. "I don't think I'm ever as good as people say I am."

But try telling that to the fans who saw his four slam dunks, including a behind-the-back jam as the game ended. And two of his other jams turned into three-point plays when Redbird players foolishly tried to keep Hall from the basket.

The key to the game was Venice getting some rebounds and picking up the pace. The bigger, slower West Frankfort team was content to play a half-court game, but that made it tough to come from behind.

"Rebounding is the key in every game," Hall said. "But I like to play a team all night West Frankfort. We like to play a quicker game. But they're a good team."

"The Devils were in charge by halftime even though only three players — Hall, Wilfred Wigfall and Vincent Harris — had scored. But Jesse had 19 at the intermission and Wigfall had buried four of six baseline jumpers for a 29-20 lead.

"The end of the half hurt us," said Redbird coach David Lee, whose team fell to 2-3. "We were down 27-20 and threw the ball away. It would have been better to be at 27-22, but they scored instead."

And that was it. The Redbirds committed six turnovers in the third period and didn't score for the first five minutes until Tom Palasky (11 points) scored. By then, the Devils had a 39-22 lead and were on their way.

"It was a team effort," said Red Devil coach Clinton Harris. "We worked the ball around good and mixed up our defenses on them. We have a team full of guards, so we have to work hard on defense."

"We figured they would slow it down," said Venice guard Vincent

Warriors stunned by Cahokia

By Gary King
Correspondent

CAHOKIA — Even though his squad was handed a 65-44 drubbing by the Cahokia Comanches Friday night, Granite City basketball coach Don Deterding pointed out that his squad could've even fallen to a lesser rival.

"When you only score 44 points and shoot 37 percent from the floor, you're not going to be able to beat a junior high or girls' team," Deterding said.

After jumping out to an early 10-2 lead, the Warriors began a downward spiral that would increase exponentially as the contest wore on.

Behind the sharp outside gunning of Comanche forward Mike Mitchell, who ignited the Cahokia offensive scheme with 12 first half points, Granite City stumbled in its bid for an early runaway and found the lead had been cut to 15-10 by quarter's end.

With the Warriors' inside game basically ineffective against the Comanches front line trio of Bill Pribble, Guy Williams and Mitchell, Tim and Jamie Hogan were called upon to keep Cahokia at bay with their outside shooting.

But when the Hogan duo's usually accurate shooting fell upon hard times early in the second period, Cahokia picked up the pendulum of momentum and never relinquished it for the remainder of the contest. They have won three in a row and are 3-3, while the Warriors fell to 5-2 heading into Saturday night's home game against Collinsville.

With Mitchell continuing his assault on the Warrior outside defense and point guard Rodney Lawary dropping shots from within the paint, Cahokia went on a 14-6 run late in the first half. Pribble capped the run by nailing a short jumper with three seconds left in the half to give Cahokia a 29-27 lead at the intermission.

Whatever hopes the Warriors had of a comeback disappeared in the third quarter, as the Comanches took advantage of poor Granite City shooting to open up a 44-31 lead. Lawary paced the Cahokia attack with six points and three steals in the quarter. Granite City's only points of the quarter would come on a Tim Hogan jumper and a pair of Jamie Hogan free throws late in the quarter.

"We thought we had the quickness to match up with them, so we just wanted to control their guards and the tempo," Comanche coach Ken McBride would say later. "I was really pleased with the defensive effort of Nick Hill, Bill Tinsley and Lawary. They might not have shut the Hogans down altogether, but they sure did keep 'em quiet most of the night."

On the night, Jamie Hogan finished with 16 points, while Tim Hogan could salvage only nine points due to a dismal night from the floor.

Granite City's front line trio of Tom Taylor, Eric Ryerski and Greg Lilley combined for 14 points. Taylor, who was averaging 18 points a game coming into the contest, was held to six points against the Comanches, with all three of his buckets coming in the first half.

"We just weren't moving offensively," Deterding said. "I think the guys have started to get spoiled on offense. They think they're supposed to be open all the time, and they shouldn't have to work for it."

"Still, though, we were getting some wide-open shots. They just weren't going in. Our rebounding also left a little to be desired."

After the contest, McBride said he thought Cahokia's fast-paced offensive attack might have worn Granite City down in the second half.

"They might've started to get a little tired on us there in the second half," he said. "I think we might have just worn them down a little in the first half by running so much. They just didn't seem to be shooting in the second half like they did in the first."

And as a result of the Warriors' offensive woes, the Comanches were able to overcome a mid-fourth quarter run by Granite City, which trimmed the disadvantage to nine, 44-35, with 6:34 left in the game.

The Warriors would get no closer, however, as Lawary and Mitchell would once again spark a Comanche scoring spree which gave Cahokia a 60-40 lead with 1:30 left.

"I thought our defensive effort was fair," Deterding said. "Late in the ballgame they only had 50 points on us, but then we had to come out and attack their guards. Anytime you hold a team to 50 points, you should win the game. But you can't score 44 points and expect to win anything."

Girls fall to West after win over Alton

By John Twombly
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — A few good things about the Granite City girls basketball team in their game against Belleville West on Friday: Halftime. More on that later.

It was a game Warrior fans are glad is over. After defeating Alton on Thursday 60-58, the Warriors hosted the Maroons and lost 44-17.

"In the first half especially, we were intimidated," said Granite City head coach John Hutchings. "We didn't challenge them on the wings or in the middle. Once we got the ball down low, we were outmanned."

"The girl that keeps stats for me was sent tonight, so I can't be exact, but I'd say our shooting percentage couldn't have been more than 30 percent, and that's being lucky. We can't do that against any other teams this season."

"He (Maroon head coach Larry Betz) was kind. He could have kept the press on us after the first quarter and really have blown us out."

Kim Pawlak led Granite City with 10 points.

For the Maroons, Nancy Scheller had 10 points and 12 rebounds.

"I was pleased with our defense tonight," said Betz. "We'd force them into something every time."

Belleville West is 6-2. The loss, although not pretty, does not a bad season make for the Warriors.

Forward Beth Earney has been sidelined the past week and a half with a bad shoulder.

Plus, the Warrior record at this point last year was 0-8. This year, it's 2-6.

Oy, oy, halftime.

The Warriors left the locker room to warm up. As they stood around the basket, they proceeded to make 108 baskets in less than 10 minutes.

And the Granite City band played "Smoking in the Boys' Room" and "Johnny B. Goode."

If only the game would have gone as smoothly...

NOTES: The Warrior junior varsity team lost to the Maroons 49-35. Next action for the Warriors is at the Mascoutat Tournament Dec. 26-27. They have been more patient.

On Thursday against Alton, the Warriors had a 60-58 lead with five seconds left, but had to hang on for their first conference win of the year. Marla Toeniskoetter and Pawlak had 12 points each.

Wendy Knollman and Lisa Mills had 8 each.

In another girls game this week, the Madiesse Trojans fell to a dunking exhibition. Vashon of St. Louis lost, however, to DeMatha of Hyattsville, Md., 58-48.

Meishel Matkins was Venice High School's winner of a $2,000 Jesse Owens Foundation Scholarship. One student from each of the eight participating schools received one.

Jackie and Al Joyner of East St. Louis, medal winners at the 1984 Olympics, helped in the presentation ceremonies.

Essington's homecoming not happy

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

VENICE — The memories had to be waiting through the mind of Rich Essington.

Reggie Gardner's miracle shot and that fantastic championship season of 1975 are in the past, but Essington returned to the site of his greatest triumph Friday night.

He left with a somewhat more forgettable experience.

Essington, the ex-Venice coach who took over the Madison Trojans this year, brought his team to Venice with hopes of upsetting the highly-ranked Red Devils. But Madison was buried under an avalanche of mistakes in an 80-56 loss.

Venice, now 7-1 and winners of six in a row, took advantage of Trojan mistakes and poor shooting to roar out to a 12-2 lead which was 20-8 after one quarter. They never looked back in completing a very successful week (three wins in four nights).

The Trojans may have not had only themselves to blame, but they could have made it a lot closer.

"When we get on the floor during games, we just seem to forget what we have talked about in practice," said Essington of the Trojans, now 4-3. "As long as we keep doing that, we won't be very good."

Although it was far from a one-on-one show, the game featured two of the better players in the area. Jesse Hall might be the king, but Lamont Johnson is at least a crowned prince. Hall finished with 34 points and Johnson got 16, and MADISON: Johnson 16, McCarthy 11, Briggs 6, Maury 5, Sanders 4, Stanley 4, Williams 2, Buckles 1. PG-26, PF-4, PF-25.

VENICE: Hall 34, Wigfall 18 (12 rebounds), Turner 16, Jackson 10, Harris 5, Gardner 5, King 2, Wiley 2. PG-34, PF-12, PF-15.

the two had a couple of nasty confrontations, with some finger-pointing and not-so-good-natured conversation.

"They know each other, and the intensity level was very high out there," said Red Devil coach Clinton Harris.

Hall is one of the few players who can score 24 points and still not look very good. He struggled to get things going much of the night, and was perhaps trying too hard to impress some Trojan fans who were more than willing to let him know they were there.

"Jesse didn't have a good game offensively," Harris said. "I don't think he was listening to the fans, but he might have heard some of it. You just have to block it out."

Hall had only 8 in the first half, when he was 4 of 11 from the field, but Johnson was only 1 of 9 in the opening 16 minutes himself. But Hall got offensive support from Wilfred Wigfall (18 points), Dale Turner (16) and Daryl Jackson (10). Orlando McCarthy was the only other Trojan in double figures with 11.

"I'm disappointed in the effort tonight," Essington said. "We were doing too much standing around. They beat us to loose balls and were getting easy rebounds. If you're not ready to play in a Madison-Venice game, I don't know when you'll be ready."

The Trojans missed their first five shots, including a breakaway slam that was blown by Carlos Briggs. Briggs, averaging over 20 points this year, had only 5. The Devils, meanwhile, made only two of their first nine shots, but eventually inched their lead up to 21-8.

"We had the 15-point lead, and then we made a couple of turnovers and it was a 10-point game," Harris said. "I told them that if they are a championship team, they have to take good shots when they have a lead. We were taking 20- and 25-footers, when we should have been taking nothing more than 8-footers and layups."

But the Trojans could never cut the lead into single digits.

"We got it to 10 a couple of times, but defensive mistakes and turnovers hurt us," Essington said.

The lead was still only 12 late in the third quarter, but Hall made one free throw, then finally broke through for the slam he had been looking for all night.

Sanders went up with him, but all he got for his trouble was an injured wrist and a foul. That gave the Devils a 58-48 lead after three quarters, and they cruised from there.

"We had had two good practices this week," Essington said. "And we played well in spots against Lebanon. We talk about what we want to do, but we seem to get frantic when the game starts. We did have one stretch in the third quarter where we ran our offense well and had things going."

But 21 turnovers were too much to overcome against the opportunistic Red Devils.

"The defense was really good tonight," Harris said. "But offensively, we made too many turnovers. Playing last night (in the 7-Up Shootout) might have had something to do with it. But we played exceptionally well last night."

Essington thought his team defended Hall pretty well.

"He had a couple of charges early in the game that weren't called," Essington said. "That wouldn't have changed the game, but it might have changed something a little."

"But we're just not mature enough yet. We didn't set up well against their zone and we weren't patient. I guess we think we're better than we really are, but Veni has a very good game."

NOTES: The game was sold out and had all the noise level and electricity of all Madison-Venice games. "It's like thunder and lightning when these teams play," Harris said. Hall is averaging 27.4 points after eight games.

The Devils made 34 of 72 shots (47 percent) and 12 of 24 from the free throw line (50 percent). The Trojans were 26 of 58 (43 percent) and 4 of 14 (28 percent). The Trojans host Lovejoy in an 8 p.m. game Monday. The game was moved up a day from its original Tuesday starting time.

Venice plays Saturday in the Freeburg Holiday Tournament.

Shootout

Harris (11 points, 4 steals). "They're not a bad team, but we were hustling and playing good defense. And Jesse played excellent."

Harris got a taste of the Redbirds' Dwayne Summers' football skills when he was tackled by the burly forward late in the game. Summers was given an intentional foul.

"You can't blame them for hustling, and he was probably frustrated," Harris said. Summers scored only one point.

West Frankfort was getting rebounds early in the game, but made only eight of 23 shots in the first half. The game was tied at 13-13 before Harris scored.

Hall stuffed and was fouled, and Venice never looked back.

Hall finished in glory with his reverse jam at the buzzer.

"I was back waiting at mid-court, because two points for them wasn't going to win the game," he said.

The floor at Kiel Auditorium was slick enough to warrant the officials' wailing some traveling calls that might have otherwise been made. It was decided when players slipped down with the ball, their team would get to keep possession.

"The floor was nothing to write home about," Hall said.

"I don't feel they were a better team than we were," Lee said.

"We should have been more patient. You've got to use your head against great talent like Venice."

NOTES: The Devils shot 51 percent from the floor (28 of 51) and made 7 of 11 free throws. West Frankfort was only 16 of 46 (41 percent) and made 6 of 8 free throws.

Mike Johnson led West Frankfort with 18 points, mostly on long jumpers after Venice had taken a big lead. The "home" teams won three of the four games, with Lincoln (Ill.) topping Hopkinsville (Ky.) 69-44 and East St. Louis Lincoln beating Memphis Central 69-53.

As James Harris and LaPhonso Ellis put on a dunking exhibition. Vashon of St. Louis lost, however, to DeMatha of Hyattsville, Md., 58-48.

Meishel Matkins was Venice High School's winner of a $2,000 Jesse Owens Foundation Scholarship. One student from each of the eight participating schools received one.

Jackie and Al Joyner of East St. Louis, medal winners at the 1984 Olympics, helped in the presentation ceremonies.

Lauria on all-MCCAC team

George Lauria of the Granite City Campus Stars soccer team was named to the all-Midwest Community College Athletic Conference soccer team this week.

Lauria, a midfielder, was the only Stars' player named to the team. Granite City finished with a 9-12-3 mark. A graduate of CBC High School in St. Louis, Lauria had seven goals this year.

Other players named to the team were forwards Steve Stocker of Lewis and Clark and Tom Wardack of Meramec, midfielders Joe Jaggie of Meramec, and Brian Schields and Doug Skrivian of Lewis and Clark; backs Mike Gallagher and Jim Garland of Florissant Valley; Dave Gauvain of Meramec and Steve Mertens of Forest Park; and goalies Steve Davilla of Forest Park and Dave Marty of Meramec.

Kevin Kelly of Meramec was voted the conference's Coach of the Year.
